

Submission re Western District Coastal Plan

to:

17/03/2015 09:59 PM

Hide Details

From:

To:

It is a great idea having all the different groups involved in coastal care under the one umbrella. I think that one of its functions should be to act as a repository for all the different projects that have been completed or are in progress. It should be a centre for information accessible by any group wishing to start a new project to see if it has been done before elsewhere, and if so, is there a template they could follow. Data collection is the backbone of adaption plans and consistency and uniformity of collection is very important. It could have a function in coordinating projects.